

morika.id: Multi-Company Accounting System

FREELANCE / PRODUCT · NEXT.JS · TYPESCRIPT · POSTGRESQL (SUPABASE) · NETLIFY · 2026

An accounting system built from scratch to replace off-the-shelf vendor software (Jurnal.id, Accurate). It is deployed and runs as a subscription product: customers sign up themselves, billing reminders go out on schedule, and each company receives its own backup by email.

It covers the finance side of an ERP rather than bookkeeping alone: double-entry journals and ledger, receivables and payables, inventory movement, fixed assets with depreciation, bank reconciliation, tax (PPN/PPH), period closing, and consolidated reports across a group, its companies and their branches. Access is enforced inside the database with row-level security, not hidden buttons, so one branch can never read or edit another's records.

Company list

One account can hold several groups, companies and branches. Everything that belongs to a group (brands, stores, reports) lives inside it.

Overview with a daily-movement calendar

Click a date to see that day's reconciliation. Revenue and expenses are computed straight from posted journals, never typed in twice.

Company profile and automatic backup

The letterhead logo printed on invoices and reports, plus automatic backup: weekly or monthly, sent to an email the customer chooses. The file is theirs to keep.

The screenshot shows a web application interface with a dark theme. On the left is a vertical sidebar with a yellow logo 'M' at the top, followed by a hamburger menu icon, and then several circular icons representing different features. The main content area has a header with a back arrow and the text 'PT Contoh Nusantara'. Below this is the title 'Profil perusahaan' in bold, followed by a subtitle 'Isi halaman ini tercetak sebagai kop di faktur, laporan, dan berkas Excel.' The interface is divided into two main sections. The first section, 'Logo perusahaan', contains a description of the logo's use, a placeholder box labeled 'belum ada', and a button 'Unggah logo'. The second section, 'Backup otomatis', contains a description of the backup process, two dropdown menus for 'Jadwal' and 'Email tujuan', and a 'Simpan jadwal backup' button.
